

Storytelling is an amazing tool to overcome language barriers.

Listening or reading stories helps in understanding the new language.

Telling your own stories expands vocabulary in a new language environment.

Does Storytelling help overcome cultural barriers? If so, how?

Does Storytelling help in understanding and in establishing relationships with people in the new country? If so, how?